THE PHONOGRAPH IN BOSTON.

[From the Globe May 10.]

Edison's phonograph—not the first crude device of the inventor, by any manner of means, but a bran new instrument, just from the hands of the great man himself, and endowed with all the latest improvements—made its first appearance in Boston last evening. It has been expected that the phonograph would be ready so as to begin the exhibition yesterday morning. But the fates ruled otherwise, and it was only by the liveliest sort of travelling that the managers of the exhibition arrived in town in time to give the opening soiree, so to speak, last evening. "No, Mr. Edison, the inventor, is not with us," said the gentlemanly Mr. William McMahon, who looks after the interests of the phonograph in Boston. "You know he is a very bashful man, and dislikes to appear in public. However, we shall try to get him to come here before the season closes. This phonograph is larger than the ones in common use, and has been made expressly for exhibition. It is in some sort an experimental instrument, yet it seems likely to give good satisfaction. This phonograph was never used until it was brought into the hall at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Constructed on the proper principles, however, and embodying several improvements in working which suggested themselves to Mr. Edison, its efficiency was assured. The phonograph will improve by use, and tonight's exhibition can hardly be considered as displaying its powers at the best." Whether the phonograph suffered at all from inability to fully express the thoughts committed to his care or not, the large audience at Horticultural Hall was thoroughly delighted with the exhibition of its powers. In the assemblage, which pressed hard upon the platform where there was probably not one who had not read of the wonderful doings of the famous instrument. By its side stood Mr. T. C. Ballard, the exhibitor, who gave a detailed explanation of the way in which sound vibrations registered on a sheet of tin-foil made sensitive to their influence, may be reproduced by the phonograph. The audience listened attentively, and waited to see what the phonograph would, by and by, have to say for itself. Viewed by the careless eye, the invention looks very much like some detached part of a machine, and not at all like a device complete in itself. The registering instrument is disc-like in form, differing in this from some of the phonographs in use, where the shape is cylindrical. Around this the sheet of tin-foil—exactly like the pieces in which tobacco is wrapped up in packages for sale—is placed, and then the phonograph is ready for business. Rubber slides are used to correct so far as possible, the metallic character of the sounds produced. A process of winding is necessary in order that the tin-foil may be carried round and round, so as to catch the vibrations. These are conveyed by shouting or by the playing of some instrument through the mouth-piece. This over, the exhibitor claps a curiously shaped trumpet over the orifice, and in a minute or so the sounds recorded within are reproduced to perfection. It may be said certainly that is limitless, so far as the reproduction of sounds is concerned. Last evening the phonograph, in presence of several hundred ladies and gentlemen, "talked back" to the exhibitor with a distinctness which would put to shame any echo, however famous. The familiar "Old Mother Hubbard" was given, with all Mr. Ballard's peculiarities of intonation. When the crowd pressed too closely, he had only to shout to the phonograph, "Gentlemen will please stand back," and the request was pressed upon the public's attention with special emphasis, as coming from the mysterious instrument. A curious trick of the phonograph was the frequent repetition of the last word or two in a preceding "deliverance" before it went on to repeat the words just spoken, and the effort of this was several times last evening exceedingly droll. Mr. Ballard shouted "War" in the mouthpiece of the phonograph and the word was sent back with such grim repetition of the utterance of the exhibitor that everybody laughed and applauded. One of the best efforts of the evening was the reproduction of an extraordinary succession of barks, howls, meaows, crowings, etc., shouted into the phonograph by Mr. Ballard. This occupied some time, and was received with hearty applause. Mr. William Henry, a cornet-player of excellent ability, performed through the instrument "Yankee Doodle" and other selections, which with the variations, were of course given with perfect accuracy, and evoked much enthusiasm on the part of the audience. Everybody who heard the marvellous speech of the phonograph last evening must have been convinced that there is nothing in sound which the wonderful instrument cannot reproduce, and Horticultural Hall will undoubtedly be thronged by visitors during the stay of the "funnygraph" in Boston. The arrangements for the exhibition will be perfected to-day; and the instrument, which must grow better and more efficient in its work every day, is explained and operated by gentlemen who fully understand their business. Only the presence of Edison himself is needed to fully satisfy the Boston public, and that, it is to be hoped will be given before many days.

THE MYSTERIOUS PHONOGRAPH WAS PLACED,

THE USE OF THE LEMON.—As a writer in the London Lancet remarks few people know the value of lemon juice. A piece of lemon bound upon a corn will cure it in a few days; it should be renewed night and morning. A free use of lemon juice and sugar will relieve a cough. Most people feel poorly in the spring, but if they would eat a lemon before breakfast every day for a week—with or without sugar, as they like—they would find it better than any medicine. Lemon juice used according to this recipe will sometimes cure consumption: Put a dozen lemons into cold water and slowly bring to a boil; boil slowly until the lemons are soft, but not too soft, then squeeze until all the juice is extracted, add sugar to your taste and drink. In this way use one dozen lemons a day. If they cause pain or loosen the bowels too much, lessen the quantity and use only five or six a day until you are better, and then begin again with a dozen a day. After using five or six dozen the patient will begin to gain flesh and enjoy food. Hold on to the lemons, and still use them very freely several weeks more. Another use of lemons is for a refreshing drink in summer, or in sickness at any time. Prepare as directed above, and add water and sugar. But in order to have this keep well, after boiling the lemons, squeeze and strain them carefully; then to every half pint of juice add one pound of loaf or crushed sugar, boil and stir a few minutes more until the sugar is dissolved, skim carefully and bottle. You will get more juice from the lemons by boiling them, and the preparation keeps better.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Messrs. Evans and Cram, manufacturers of the Evans repeating rifle at Mechanic Falls, received a telegram from an officer of the Cimbria Monday, to visit the ship at once and bring two rifles of their latest pattern with them for inspection.

Col. Lewis Hunton, an old and respected citizen of East Livermore, died at his residence April 21st, aged eighty-three years and eight months. Mr. Hunter has been a resident of East Livermore for fifty-six years, respected and valued by all who knew him. He was a pensioner of the war of 1812.

A few days since an Auburn builder ascended to the top of High street church spire to do some work on the finial. Suddenly he felt nausea, and his head began to swim. He was alone, 150 feet from the ground on a narrow scaffolding. He had presence of mind enough to fall flat on his back on the narrow board upon which he stood. He lay there half an hour so far as he knew, swimming in boundless ether. Gradually the nausea and dizziness disappeared, and he ventured again to rise, finished the work he had begun, and descended.

Aroostook.

A valuable colt belonging to A. J. Flint of Ashland, had his leg broken by being cast in the stall, in the stable of the Aroostook House Monday night.

Monday evening as Bradford Cummings of Fort Fairfield, was returning home from this village, he stood up in his carriage to put on his overcoat, when the horse suddenly started throwing him out upon the ground breaking his collar bone and otherwise severely injuring him.

Last Saturday a Frenchman belonging in Presque Isle, hired a team at Fred Barker's livery stable, and together with his wife went to Fort Fairfield. On the road home great was his surprise to find himself overtaken by customs officers Drew and Teague, who suspected he had some of the ardent from the lines, and upon searching the buggy three bottles of liquor were found. Mr. Frenchman and wife were brought to the Custom House and the team was seized.

Thursday the body of Captain Jacob Bartol, the fisherman who disappeared last winter, and was supposed to have been drowned, was recovered off Fish Point. He was about 25 years of age, and belonged in Cape Elizabeth.

On Wednesday evening, Charles E. Sawtelle, who set fire to his buildings in Readfield, but who was at liberty on bail, was arrested, and arraigned in the municipal court for perjury. Found guilty, and ordered to recognize in the sum of $1000 for his appearance at the next term of court. Failing to find sureties, he was committed to jail.

Lincoln.

A narrow escape from a serious, if not fatal accident occurred Tuesday forenoon at Waldoboro, Mrs. James O. Storer and her sister, Miss Eliza Gracia, were driving down Sproul's hill when the horse made a very short and quick turn at Benner's drug store, unshipping the seat and throwing out both ladies. Mrs. Storer received a bad cut upon the head but Miss Gracia was unhurt. Those who witnessed the accident considered their escape remarkable.

Last Saturday forenoon, while Mr. Charles Hayer of North Waldoboro, was driving a colt belonging to his brother, Ambrose, when opposite the house of Mr. Moses E. Shuman, the colt became suddenly frightened and started on a run, going but a short distance when the wheel struck a rock throwing Mr. Hayer out, striking his head on a rock. He was taken up insensible, and it is feared his injuries may prove fatal.

Oxford.

Work on the Buckfield & Mechanic Falls railroad is progressing finely. All the bridges and trestles to Buckfield have been completed, and work will commence at once in laying new sleepers and re-laying the track. Much new iron will be used. A new locomotive will leave Portland, Wednesday, and it is expected will be run to Buckfield before the end of the month.

York.

Work evidently was never better at Mr. John E. Sweetser's shoe manufactory in Saco than at present. He has this week added a new team from Haverhill—the second from that place within a few weeks, and is now turning out upwards of a thousand pairs of boots per week.

Wednesday the wife of David Tuxbury, Esq., of Saco, was injured by being thrown from a carriage. Mrs. Tuxbury, in company with another lady, drove to the corner of Thornton avenue and Elm street. As Mrs. Tuxbury was alighting—her companion having already left the carriage—the horse started and ran away. The lady was thrown forward striking her head on the curbstone. A severe cut was made in her forehead, and in the fall one of her arms came under her in such a position as to cause dislocation at the wrist.

A juror in St. Louis snored so loudly that he awoke the Judge, and the latter was so indignant that he fined him $10 and sent him out of the box, after which the case was adjourned, the defendant refusing to proceed with only eleven jurors. AN INVITING FIELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

The Democratic ardor for investigating "frauds in the Presidential election" has so rapidly abated that they seem more anxious to be rid of Dennis and McLin than to attempt to make use of the "confessions" they were boasting so loudly over only a few days ago. The news from the Democratic camp in Washington now indicates that the leaders of that party are anxious to get rid of the matter as quietly as possible, but find themselves in a tight place. To refuse to investigate, after shouting "fraud" so lustily and so long, would leave them in bad shape, while to invite a full investigation of frauds in the Presidential election would lead to disclosures which the Democratic party cannot afford to permit. The effort seems to be, therefore, to make some pretence of investigation to avoid a square backdown, but to take care that it shall not open up the whole case. The Republicans are determined to have the whole "fraud" question sifted, if the matter is taken up at all, and there are abundant reasons for Democratic aversion to any such complete overhauling of "bottom facts" in the Presidential contest. While the Democratic fuglers are hesitating what course to take, we suggest to them a very inviting field for investigation, which should not be neglected in any examination of "crookedness" in the Presidential election, viz: the very interesting correspondence between the Hon. Samuel J. Tilden, Democratic Candidate for President, and Mr. William T. Pelton, his nephew and private Secretary, in New York, and Senator Kelly, Governor Grover, the ubiquitous Mr. Patrick and their aliases "Gobble," "Doctrinal," etc., in Oregon, with reference to the patriotic negotiations for purchasing an Elector for Tilden in that State. The despatches were sent in a peculiar cypher that was fully discovered, and we give the famous "Gobble" cypher as a specimen, with its translation, and simply the translations of the rest:

[The Cypher Despatch.]

Democratic papers are at liberty to copy, in the interest of "unearthing Fraud!"

GLOVER'S NET.

The Washington special of the Boston Herald says that Glover is still carrying dismay into the Democratic camp, by digging into the frauds connected with the Morrison Democratic House Committee that went to Louisiana to investigate the election. Glover has already been so unfortunate in bringing up Democrats at every cast of his fraud net, that the leaders and organs of the party have roundly abused him, and now he has "got his mad up" and is determined to strike back. The special says:

Glover of Missouri is following up the alleged frauds in the accounts of the Louisiana Investigating Committee. It is found that although only $30,000 was ostensibly spent by this committee, over $50,000 was actually spent. Considerable frauds have already been proved, and important developments are expected. It is found that Meade's sub-committee, which actually spent only $650, is charged with $2,000. It also appears that the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, who is charged with the frauds, has once been tried for forgery in Ohio. Glover's latest discovery is that before starting for New Orleans from Washington, the committee provided themselves with a fine stock of champagne, brandies, whiskeys and other liquors, and the requisite accompaniments, which were purchased from one of the principal grocery establishments at Washington, the bill amounting to $196. Mr. Glover has obtained a copy of the bill in detail, and it makes quite interesting reading. The Republicans who have seen it think it will make a very excellent piece of campaign literature for their side.

The royal family of England now receive $2,700,000 a year in grants from Parliament, of which about $1,720,000 goes to the Queen.

THE PHILADELPHIA EXHIBITION.

OPENING ADDRESS OF SENATOR BLAINE.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. The Permanent Exhibition, which has been closed for some time past to allow of a thorough renovation, was reopened to the public to-day. Many of the old exhibits have been removed and replaced by others, and many valuable additions to the agricultural and educational departments have been made. The platform was arranged for the accommodation of guests and others, as at the former opening, and was handsomely ornamented with bunting and flowers. The auditorium, which has been fitted up for the occasion, presented a similar appearance to that of last year. The space immediately below the grand organ was reserved for the chorus, while invited guests filled the floor immediately in front. Several thousand invitations were issued to prominent citizens of this State and other States. The programme of the exercises was of a very attractive character. Mark Hassler's orchestra of sixty pieces, together with a chorus of between 300 and 400 selected voices, furnished the musical portion of the exercises.

Senators Blaine, Bayard and Wallace arrived at about 2:30 o'clock and were met and escorted to the platform by the Reception Committee. The ceremonies opened about 3 P. M., with the playing of National airs, a concert overture, and Handel's chorus, "Lift up Your Heads," after which the President of the Exhibition, Henry D. Moore, made a few introductory remarks, in which he took occasion to congratulate the management upon the happy termination of their financial difficulties, and expressed the hope that the tide of prosperity would now carry them to ultimate success. Some popular airs were then rendered, when Colonel A. K. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, made a short address, concluding by introducing Senator Blaine, of Maine, as the orator of the day. Mr. Blaine then delivered a long and carefully prepared address. The following were the concluding remarks:

MR. BLAINE'S DEFENCE OF PROTECTION.

And now slowly emerging, as we hope we are, from the gloom and depression of these last four years, let us gather knowledge and counsel and wisdom and courage for the future. With the wealth of a continent surrounding us, let us not permit ourselves to doubt or distrust our abundant capacity to provide remunerative labor and cheerful homes for our ever-increasing population. Let us look at our actual condition, and draw thence some instruction, which may silence partisan strife over questions of domestic economy. To those who doubt the development of home industry under the stimulus of protection to the American investor and the American mechanic, I say, Stand on the platform and look around you. Argument may well cease in the face of a positive demonstration. Clamorous contradiction may well be silenced in the presence of an irrefutable conclusion. To those who think we need the vigor and independence which free-trade can impart, I say, Look abroad over the domain of the United States of America, inhabited by a population that will soon be 50,000,000; with 15,000 miles of ocean front on the Atlantic, the Gulf, the Pacific, and the Arctic; with five great inland seas, each more valuable than those waters for whose mastery European empires wage bloody and wasteful wars; with rivers flowing from the farthest north to the tropical south, connecting our States in a network of inland navigation greater in extent than all the rivers of Europe combined; with our railways joining lake to gulf and ocean to ocean; and then remember and reflect that on all our ocean coast, on all our interior seas, on all our rivers, over all our railroads, between all our States and with all our Territories, trade is absolutely free for all American products and fabrics without fetter or duty or charge or fee or any Governmental tax whatever, National, State or municipal; and remember, too, that the great organic law of the land declares it shall always remain so. And I here assert, that enjoying as we have enjoyed, and as I hope we shall enjoy, the full benefit of protection to American industry against injurious competition from abroad, we have also enjoyed and do enjoy among ourselves the blessings of absolute free trade beyond that ever realized in the world elsewhere by so large a population, over so vast an extent of country. The aggregate of our domestic commerce is astounding in its figures. The vast importance of our foreign commerce is now exciting general interest and enlisting the attention of the whole country. It has grown so large that its total for a single year amounts to nearly $1,200,000,000 and its importance cannot be over-estimated. But compared with our domestic commerce it is absolutely insignificant in extent. The traffic by railroad alone in this country is estimated to be sixteen times as large as the whole of our foreign commerce, and when you add to that the commerce of lake and river and canal, you have an aggregate of domestic exchanges that amounts to twenty-five times as much as the foreign commerce, including the exports and imports.

And thus it is, Mr. President, that the system of absolute free trade among ourselves and of protection with respect to foreign nations has created and developed those great industries, whose richest and ripest fruits we see around us here to-day. I congratulate you on the auspicious results of your energy and your enterprise, and I predict with confidence that your labors will be amply repaid by the increased trade of your great and growing and patriotic city, and repaid again by the intelligent gratitude of that great mass of the American people who know and who feel that the country is always happiest and most prosperous when labor is honorably employed and amply compensated at home.

Mr. Blaine was frequently interrupted by the applause of the large crowd assembled to hear him. The Hallelujah Chorus from the Messiah was then sung.

Speeches were also made by Senators Bayard and Wallace, and Governor Hartranft.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Once more the Democracy dances when Mr. Tilden pulls the string.

We protest against taking any step next June that will endanger success in October, as most assuredly any endorsement of the Administration would do.—Lafayette (Ind.) Journal.

So a place has been found by Mr. Evarts for Bret Harte in our consular service. Our foreign commerce may be expected to revive at once under the new illustration of civil service reform.—Boston Herald.

It is the Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer that says that a distinguished lawyer remarked the other day that 35 murders had been committed in Alabama this year, and not one criminal had been hanged. Perhaps that will take it out of the list of "Northern slanders."

The President advertises his determination to contribute liberally of his salary for the success of the Republican party. If he doesn't place his money more judiciously than he does the remainder of his influence, the party will not be liable to experience much of a boost.—Tribune.

We advise the Ohio Republicans to let the Administration severely alone; but, at the same time, to try and avoid any bitter altercation in the convention, or, at any rate, not to be dismayed by the prospect of serious defections in case the Administration should not be indorsed. The Republican party is bigger than any President.—Buffalo (N. Y.) Express.

The Des Moines Register says: "By a private letter from Washington we learn that Blaine, Conkling, Ben Butler, Banks, and Townsend will consent to talk the pure and unsurrendered gospel of stalwart Republicanism to the Republicans of Iowa for a week apiece this Fall. They will receive such a welcome if they come, that they will think it is Fourth of July in Iowa the year round."

The Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer seems to fear there is danger that Dr. J. U. Palmer, the cowardly murderer of Col. William L. Salisbury, its editor, will escape punishment. And yet, apparently, there was not a palliating feature in the dastardly assassination. If Georgia wishes to show that after all there is a regard for the preservation and safety of human life, even in its populous cities, this would seem to afford an excellent opportunity to show it.

Mr. S. S. Cox gives his version now of the Tammany political economy. "It is that the eight hour law should be enforced, because it would enable the Government to employ more men by one-fifth than under a ten-hour law. Why not be consistent and make an eight-hour law for Congressmen? The country could worry along with only four-fifths of Mr. Cox, though it might be puzzled to see how he could be scaled down any further.—Tribune.

If indorsement of the Administration is made the test of Republicanism in Ohio this Fall, there are thousands of honest, intelligent men whose votes are needed, who will not be found at the polls on election day. And the longer and harder the dispute is quarreled over by the Post-office, newspapers and the anti-Administration journals, the more irreconcilable the schism will become and the greater the chances of defeat. The issues at stake this year are too serious to be jeopardized by any such folly.—Cleveland (Ohio) Leader.

EXCITING DEBATE.

SOUTHERN WAR CLAIMS IN THE HOUSE—AN EX-UNION SOLDIER REPLIES TO THE STATEMENT OF EX-REBELS.

[Wash. Cor. Boston Journal.]

WASHINGTON, May 10. The House devoted the afternoon to the consideration of bills on its private calendar. The first one was that for relief of the College of William and Mary, which, on motion of Mr. Goode, was laid aside, and is not to be pressed again during the present session.

On the next bill on the calendar a discussion arose as to the loyalty of the claimant, and that paved the way for the more important question—whether any of the Southern people were loyal during the war? Several Southern members asserted that many of them were. This, Mr. Thompson of Pennsylvania admitted, but said that when this was known the Confederacy had imprisoned and starved those who had dared to avow it.

Mr. Hunton of Virginia, springing to his feet, asked the gentleman to name one case.

Gen. Harry White of Pennsylvania, who was for sixteen months a prisoner of war at the South, said that if the gentleman from Virginia wanted proof he could give it. In 1863, when Lee's army invaded Pennsylvania, a room in Libby Prison was packed with loyal civilians, whose numbers were thinned by starvation, as scores were carried out to be buried in unmarked graves, where their bodies still lie. The military prisoners on the floor above dropped food through holes in the floor to these emaciated and starving citizens. As Mr. White spoke with great earnestness, many members on both sides came down into the area in front of the clerk's desk, and there was a scene of confusion.

Mr. Hunton of Virginia endeavored to cast oil upon the troubled waters, and deprecated the reopening of the recent strife. He could not listen to a statement that dishonored the Confederate army, of which he was an humble member. The gentleman from Pennsylvania had drawn upon his imagination, but had no witnesses to prove his statement.

Mr. White exclaimed: "I am a witness! I state what I saw and what I know."

Mr. Hunton endeavored to throw blame for the treatment of Union prisoners upon the Federal Government. History, he said, would show that the Confederate Government did all in its power for the relief of prisoners.

Mr. Thompson said that when a man was loyal at the South he deserved to be honored for it, but the country knew that those who stood by the flag at the South were treated with cruel severity. History is a witness to this, and the record cannot be blotted out.

Mr. White, after quiet had been partially restored, said that he had no desire to uncover the recollections of the past, neither had he any desire to march the skeletons of Libby and Andersonville before the House, or to bring up the scenes of the past.

This remark was greeted with hisses and yells, while at least 60 members bawled for order at the top of their voices.

Mr. White standing unmoved, said, "I am your peer, and will maintain my right to be heard." When order was restored he took issue with Mr. Hunton on his assertion the Federal prisoners got the same rations as Confederate soldiers. The fortunes of war made him a prisoner, and he knew that loyal men from the valley of Virginia and East Tennessee were starved to death in Libby Prison.

Here another scene of wild confusion took place, the principal actors being Mr. White and Mr. Turner of Kentucky, who gesticulated at each other in expressive pantomime, while other members gathered around them and roared for hissed or stormed. It was with difficulty that the Sergeant at Arms got the excited crowd to resume its seats. One claim was passed, and another defeated, which was the end of the afternoon's work. The Southerners had found themselves in a tight place, and had made bad work in trying to explain themselves out of it. Southern war claims are quoted at low figures to-night, and no buyers.

The Democratic idea of economy is illustrated in Indianapolis. When the Democracy got possession of the city government in May, 1874, the city indebtedness was $1,204,500, and there was a cash balance in the treasury of $250,670. They had control for two years, and when they went out they left the city debt $1,506,165, and only $40,431 in the treasury. In other words, in two years' time they spent the cash balance of $250,670 which they found in the treasury, and increased the city indebtedness $330,904. The record is the same in municipal, State or National Government. The Democrats scream economy, and spend the money; cry reform, and in practice retrograde toward corruption.

Score one for Hon. Thomas B. Reed! The William and Mary College grab, which Loring so beautifully advocated, was so effectually exposed and dissected by Mr. Reed's keen logic and sound common-sense, that on Friday last, Goode, of Virginia, withdrew the bill for the session, recognizing that it was a lifeless thing after the gentleman from Maine stepped on it. As this grab was intended for an entering wedge for the long array of Southern war claims, it would be difficult to overestimate the service rendered the country by Mr. Reed thus early in his term of service. The First District at last has a Representative to be proud of.

LITERARY NOTES.

We learn that Rev. Leander S. Coan, of Alton, N. H. a number of whose stirring and beautiful poems have first appeared in our columns, proposes soon to make a trip through Maine to fulfil engagements for his readings. Mr. Coan has attained a wide reputation by the patriotic poems giving the views of the "Old Corporal" on current events, and more recently the sweetness and pathos of his poem entitled "Better in the Morning," have given it rank among the most felicitous appeals to human sympathy and emotion. His readings are highly complimented by the press and we should be glad to hear him in this city.

The recent newspaper controversy about the function and status of the engraver is to be renewed in Scribner's Monthly for June by Mr. W. J. Linton, the well-known engraver. It will be remembered that the occasion of the discussion was the refusal of the American Committee on Fine Art to admit proofs of wood-cuts to the department of Art. Upon the appearance in the New York morning papers of a protest against this by Mr. John La Farge, the artist,—who claimed that wood-engraving was the only art in which we could compete favorably with foreign countries,—the Evening Post came to the defense of the Committee, maintaining that "properly speaking, an engraver is not an artist." Mr. La Farge and the World rejoined and the artists Whittredge and George Inness took part in the discussion, the latter reinforcing the side of the Post. In the Scribner paper, Mr. Linton, himself a celebrated engraver, claims for engraving the dignity of an art, and in answering the arguments of his opponents throws much light on the peculiar difficulties and the history of engraving. Mr. Linton's vigorous English shows that he is something more than "merely an engraver," viz; a capital debater.

Terrible Tragedy.

THREE CHILDREN KILLED BY THEIR FATHER.

Struck on the Head with a Spade.

Attempted Suicide of the Murderer—He is Arrested—"He expressed great Sorrow"—Believed to be a Case of Ugliness."

AUGUSTA, May 11. A terrible tragedy was enacted this afternoon in the suburbs of this city, on the road leading to Sidney, about three miles from the city proper. Jason Scribner, living on a small farm, with a common spade struck three of his children over the head felling them to the floor, and striking one after he was down. One, a boy of eleven, escaped, and ran to the neighbors. Maud, a pretty little girl three years old, died in less than two hours after receiving the blow. Ernest, five years old, probably suffered fracture of the skull and will die before morning. The babe, a girl one year old, is not expected to live. The family were in the kitchen at the time of the tragedy. When the babe was struck and fell, the mother, who had been previously assaulted, seized her child and escaped from the house. Scribner then dropped the spade and rushed out into the field and attempted suicide by cutting his throat. He made an ugly wound, cutting his windpipe on both sides, but was found and arrested before making a fatal wound. He expressed great sorrow at what he had done. He was brought to the jail in this city. Scribner's home is one of poverty, and his wife bitterly complains of his cruelty and failure to provide for his family. He has been very ugly to his wife and only yesterday she complained of him to the city authorities and asked that he be taken care of. The scene is a sad one. The house is unpainted, unattractive and but poorly furnished. A dead or dying child lies in about every room. Some assert that Scribner is insane though the general belief is that he is ugly.

Excitement in Augusta—The Little Victims.

AUGUSTA, May 12. The triple murder has been the theme of conversation to-day, and hundreds have visited the scene of the tragedy. The little babe, one year old, died at midnight, making two victims, while Ernest, aged five, lingers in spasms, but will die before morning. Scribner's embarrassed condition and the effort made to take care of him by legal process weighed on his mind and had much to do towards hastening the fearful result. He was a terror to the neighborhood at times, and threatened to burn the buildings of his neighbors who, through fear, did not complain of him and have him arrested. The opinion is generally entertained that he must have been partially insane when he committed the awful deed. His mind was evidently considerably shattered by leading an intemperate life from his youth, though he quit drinking some two years since.

Scribner's Talk with a Reporter.

The reporter of the Daily Journal had an interview with Scribner in his cell today. He was lying on a cot in his bloody shirt, the wound in his throat having been dressed. He said he had always enjoyed himself in his home with his family and had never raised his hand against them. He had spasms when there would be great pressure upon his brain, and he would seize hold of something or talk violently. They would all pass away and he would be rational. His brother's wife would slur at him and hint out against him. He was discouraged because people picked upon him. He said he would rather live than die now if things could be placed back where they were. Two years ago he started a meeting but never fully came out and left off going but it would make him feel angry to see people going. Had no knowledge of striking the children. The first he knew he was in the field and the blood running from his throat. He showed considerable feeling when his dead children were referred to exclaiming—"oh God what shall I do? Why did I do it?" He requested that he might have an interview with his wife to-morrow.

THE EAST MAINE CONFERENCE.

Fourth Day's Proceedings.

ROCKLAND, May 11. The fourth day of the East Maine Conference opened with a prayer meeting led by the Rev. E. E. Springer. The Conference resumed business at 8:30. Rev. C. L. Haskell was transferred from the Wisconsin Conference. E. H. Boynton, Thomas E. Pentrost, and James Alexander were elected to local deacons orders. G. W. Hudson, E. H. Boynton, Jas. B. Hamlin, Jr. Emery A. Glidden, Amos W. Anderson, Frank H. Osgood, Richard McGown, Jas. Alexander, Perlay J. Robinson, and Frank D. Hasty were admitted on trial. A number of visitors were introduced. The committee unanimously voted that the next annual session be at Dover. The committee on nominations for 1879, church literature, benevolent operations, temperance, education, Sunday schools, tracts, Bible cause and freedman's aid, made their reports. The weather is fine and continued large attendance.

At 2 P. M. occurred the anniversary of the Women's Missionary Society, Mrs. Bertha V. Jewell, President, in the chair. Miss Treckrien, Preceptress of the Bucksport Seminary as Corresponding Secretary for this Conference, made a brief address, after which Miss Fannie Sparks, a returned Missionary from India, made a very interesting address. The ladies and pastors of the Christian Union also held in the vestry a business session of the Conference at 4 o'clock, principally occupied in hearing reports. A spirited prayer and praise meeting was held at 6:30; at 7:30 a crowded meeting under the auspices of the State Temperance Alliance. Hon. T. R. Simonton, of Camden, Vice-President of the Alliance presided and addresses were delivered by Rev. S. Geo. Crawford, L. L. Hanscom, A. S. Townsend and C. E. Springer of the Conference and Capt. Isaac Coombs of Camden and Edward Hills of Thomaston, Representative of the Reform Clubs.

ROCKLAND, May 12. At nine this morning the East Maine Conference assembled for the annual Love Feast, at which the church was well filled. At 10.30 Bishop Merrill preached a powerful discourse to a crowded congregation after which followed the ordination of Deacons. At two o'clock this afternoon, Rev. W. S. Jones of the Maine Conference preached an effective sermon, followed by the ordination of Elders. This evening there was another full congregation at the anniversary of the Freedman's Aid Society. Rev. P. E. Brown presided and addresses were delivered by Rev. E. Davies, of Mass., Rev. Dr. Allen and Bishop Merrill. All the city pulpits were supplied to-day by members of the Conference and visiting clergymen. A full meeting of the Rockland Reform Club was held at Farwell & Ames Hall, which was also addressed by Revs. C. F. Southard, Jas. L. Rich, John Morse and C. W. Sleeper. The Conference will hold a brief final session tomorrow morning for reading the appointments, etc., adjourning at 8.30.

THE CIMBRIA.

The Visit of the Venus—Nothing Particularly New.

ELLSWORTH, May 12. The visit of the schooner Venus to South West Harbor was simply an effort to sell the schooner to the Russians. The officers laughed at the idea saying they had no need of such a vessel, as she was too large for a row-boat and they did not care to go yachting so long as they had such a comfortable steamship as the Cimbria to carry them about. The master of the Venus suggested she would make a good transport, to which the officers answered that there was plenty of room on the Cimbria for their baggage and besides they needed it with them. It is utterly impossible to tell when the Cimbria will leave. Some young officers who were here yesterday said that Capt. Baccenhausen and Gripenburg would visit Ellsworth some Sunday. An invitation was telegraphed them to dine here to-day, but they answered it was impossible for them to leave to-day.

An Interview With Capt. Semetschkin.

NEW YORK, May. Capt. Semetskin of the Russian Navy is alleged to have told a Herald reporter at Philadelphia that 17 American vessels were already chartered for an uncertain time, but at fixed rates. Being asked if he did not anticipate trouble in getting away from our ports with the ships the Captain said: "We do not anticipate any trouble because we may put them under the German flag. All the privateers will probably sail under German colors. This will protect them without doubt. You know that the German merchants steamers were under the Russian flag during the Franco-Prussian war." Capt. Hunt was criticised for talking too much to the newspapers. It was admitted that he shared in the secrets of the Russian officers, but he had been indiscreet. Capt. Semitschkin asserted that English influence is very strong in Washington and in the event of war with Russia the State Department would enforce the neutrality laws much more strictly against Russia than against England. The reason is that England is constantly using money in Washington and Russia is not. England has the ear of the United States Government.

When the correspondent asked his informant if he was sure English money was being used at the Capital, he replied positively that he knew it. The captain, however, said he thought war was not very likely, because, "I know that the Czar does not wish to go to war. Of course if we are slapped in the face, why then we will defend ourselves; but if it can be avoided with dignity, Russia will not go to war. That is the disposition of the Czar Alexander. When the Czarwitch reaches the throne it will probably be different."

WASHINGTON

Dennis Goes Home—His Opinion of the "High-toned."

NEW YORK, May 11. Dennis of Florida has returned home saying that he is disgusted with the professions of those who pretend to desire a full investigation of the Florida election, and says the exposition would damage Democrats as much as the Republicans. He says: "Florida is my home; I am, always have been, and always shall be, a Republican in my convictions; but it has got to be a crime to be a Republican in the South. If I should tell you the story of the political campaigning in Florida during the last ten years, it would make your nerves quiver, and you wouldn't probably believe one-half the facts I could prove. When they talk about high-toned, chivalrous gentlemen and men of scrupulous honor and all that sort of thing, I have only to point to a man who stands in Florida as one of the most conspicuous of this class of citizens, and who deliberately violated a solemn pledge of personal honor and confidence in giving out the published statement signed by me."

Tilden's Conclave.

It is stated that Mr. Pelton, Secretary to Samuel J. Tilden, and several Washington and New York politicians, held a long private conference on the Florida and Louisiana election frauds, at Baltimore, yesterday; but nothing is known as to the conclusion arrived at.

LOSS OF THE SARDINIAN.

Origin of the Fire.

All the Cabin Passengers safe—Two of the Crew Killed.

MONTREAL, May 11. The Messrs Allan have received the following by cable: The Sardinian's spare coals exploded in Moville Harbor. The ship took fire and was run ashore and scuttled, sinking in thirty feet of water. Several steerage passengers were injured. All the cabin passengers are safe. Two of the crew were killed. An attempt will be made to float the ship next week. The Peruvian sails from Liverpool Sunday to embark the Sardinian's passengers and mails.

Farther Particulars.

LONDON, May 11. Steamer Sardinian was at anchor at the time of the accident. The explosion took place in the bunkers. She took fire immediately and the greatest confusion ensued. When order was restored the compartments were searched for the dead and wounded. Some of the latter had arms and legs broken, and a few were burned about the hands and face. It is believed that when the full extent of the disaster is ascertained, the figures given of the injured and killed will be considerably increased. The wounded were temporarily placed in the warehouses fronting the quay. Three of the injured in the Derby Infirmary are pronounced hopeless. Two bodies of the crew have been recovered. Some of the passengers are reported missing. Among the Sardinian's passengers were forty orphan children destined for domestic service in America. The fire brigade from Derry went to the vessel in a special steamer, but all efforts were unavailing. An attempt was made to beach her on McKenny bank, but she was finally settled in five fathoms of water. All of the Sardinian's saloon passengers are safe. Four persons, steerage passengers or members of the crew, are missing.

Mr. Holden sang a solo entitled, "While the days are going by," which was well appreciated by the assembly. Miss Osgood also sang, "Send down thy blessing," in her usual pleasing manner.

MAINE BASE BALL GOSSIP. The Kennebec Journal says: "Belfast is coming to the front with a good club. A paper in that city says: "Our crack nine will enter the field this season in much better trim than any previous year and will sharply contest the championship of the State." The Skowhegan boys are getting ready for the summer campaign. A club has been organized in that place with Mr. E. F. Fairbrother as captain. The men are well picked and have organized for work. An association is being formed to back the paying nine. The Mohawks and Quicksteps of Bath, are two good clubs. They played Wednesday with a victory for the former—8 to 14. Fairfield's nine is a very good one. The Monmouth boys have pluck if they are not first class players, and for a young team are fair players. Away up in Aroostook base ball is going this year, and several good nines will take the field in that part of the State. The Augusta club feel encouraged with its new captain, Warren Taylor, formerly captain of the Lewiston nine. The Reds of Portland, are said to have the handsomest looking men in the State. Maine this season will have many more clubs than it did last."

COMPLIMENTARY. We find the following complimentary notice of Mr. Walter F. Lansil, son of Mr. Asa Lansil, formerly of this city, in a recent issue of the Boston Traveller:

Walter F. Lansil's last important painting is still on his easel awaiting the final touches. It is a view of Charleston and that portion of the harbor which is embraced in a view from the southeast. The sun is setting in a glowing sky, that is varied by fleecy clouds fringed with crimson and gold. The picturesque buildings of Charlestown are seen in the distance, wrapt in a purple mist, which contrasts charmingly with the golden light that emanates from the sun. Against the luminous sky and mist groups of vessels stand out boldly in the foreground, the deep warm shadows and gray semi-tones giving strength and vividness to the scene. A shimmering light that is thrown by the sun upon the water is rendered with great success, and the masts of the shipping at the piers, in the middle distance, rising suggestively from the sun-bathed mists, add much to the poetry of the scene. Mr. Lansil has gained a high reputation for his sunset marines and this overtops all that he has yet exhibited. His composition and drawing are equal to his color, which is rich in its harmony and full of vitality. In his sunset pictures Mr. Lansil has been compared to Claude Lorraine. We think there is good reason for the comparison, but he is entirely original nevertheless. He is a close student of nature, and it is from that source that he obtains his effects.

Luther Benson.

Last evening a very large audience assembled in Norombega Hall to listen to Luther Benson lecture on temperance. At about eight o'clock he made his appearance on the stage and being no stranger to our citizens, he immediately proceeded to get his hearers in the best possible humor, and then for an hour and a half he held the attention of all while he depicted the horrors of intemperance. We quote the following sentences from his opening remarks:

"Streaming down the ages, blighting the rose buds, shriveling the grasses, scorching the heart and blistering the soul, has come a lurid tongue of flame, which, heated by the madness of hell, has hissed out the terrors of death and dropped over the earth a sea of unutterable woe. In the darkness of midnight it has gathered intensity of brightness and gathered about the hearthstone, was with the weeping wives, mothers and children, and blasted the beauty of earth with the horrid heat of hell. Twisting around the altar of the church it has wreathed the sweetest flowers that ever attempted to bloom for the adornment of beauty and has fed death from the very wreaths of life. At the very doors of Heaven itself it has glowed with appalling vividness and been almost an impassable wall of flame between misery and bliss. Dripping burning drops of agony into the tenderest depths of writhing souls, they have waited and wept, and hissed unutterable despair, and pleaded with God to blot them from existence forever. The blighting, glowing, damning curse of the world is the demon intemperance."

EAST MAINE CONFERENCE.

Third Day's Proceedings.

Our Rockland correspondent under date of the 10th inst., writes as follows: The Bishop called the Conference to order this morning at 9 o'clock, and the regular order of business was resumed. One item of rather more than ordinary interest was the address of Bishop Merrill to the class of young men about to become members of the Conference. In force and clearness it surpassed anything of the kind we have ever heard on such an occasion and I doubt not was as profitable to the entire Conference as to the class. The members of the class were Oren Tyler, David H. Sawyer, Jacob T. Crosby and Virgie P. Wardwell. Each one having answered the usual questions put by the Conference, was received into full membership and will be ordained by the Bishop next Sabbath.

The memorial services with reference to Phineas Higgins, Otis R. Wilson and John M. Brown, (brethren who have died during the year) and also of Mrs. Catharine Wilson, wife of Rev O. R. Wilson, who deceased only a few weeks before her husband, occupied most of the afternoon session. Appropriate memoirs were read by Revs. W. W. Marsh, L. L. Hanscom and C. B. Dun. Chaplain McCabe and Rev. H. W. Bolton conducted the singing. Sermon by Rev. Geo. Pratt, from Job, 13:10. The Conference ordered the obituaries to be printed in the Conference minutes. The educational interests of the church furnished the theme for the evening. Short, but stirring speeches were made by Rev. Geo. Forsyth, Dr. Allen of the State College, Rev. C. D. Pillsbury of the Wisconsin Conference, and Dr. Stephen Allen of Hallowell. The church was well filled.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

APRIL (CIVIL) TERM, 1878.

HON. JOHN APPLETON, Justice Presiding.
JAMES H. BURGESS, Clerk of Courts.
RUEL SMITH, Stenographer.

Saturday, May 11.

John Ferrell vs. Inhabitants of Oldtown. Plaintiff a merchant tailor in Oldtown. It is claimed that plaintiff's hired man on the 13th day of last September, 1875, with plaintiff's child and servant girl were riding with plaintiff's horse and covered carriage along the road from Oldtown to Upper Stillwater; that about that time a bridge was being repaired in Oldtown and on the aforesaid day some split stone had been transported on a jigger over the same road and the jigger broke down and the stone was left on the side of the road; that the horse of plaintiff became frightened at the stone so left by the roadside and became unmanagable, and backed and overturned the carriage, and threw out the occupants. The carriage was badly broken and the horse ran away and was injured, and this action is brought to recover for the damage sustained. Defendants deny their liability for the injury, as not having been caused by any defect in the road but only by a fright of a skittish horse from granite stones by the side of the road. Also that no legal notice of the obstructions was received before the accident, and that the horse was an unsafe one to drive. Plaintiff answers that the horse was bought and used as a family horse, and driven by plaintiff's wife, and never showed any skittishness until after the accident; and that there was a sufficient notice. Verdict for $125.83 for plaintiff. The case goes up on exceptions to the Law Court.

Varney. Sewall & Blanchard, Paine.

ON TRIAL.

Susan E. Andrews vs. Mary H. Cole. Plaintiff is a music teacher and brings this action to recover for her services in giving the children of defendant music lessons. Defendant's husband says that he had a team and agreed with plaintiff that his boys should carry plaintiff about in giving her music lessons—that he paid the plaintiff money and that the use of his team and the payment of the money was in full payment and settlement for the music lessons and that they did settle.

Our correspondent Nopen under date of the 11th inst., writes as follows:

The Mattawamkeag drive got into the Penobscot river last Friday and is now near the head of Five Islands.

The Mud Brook and Swift Brook drives and the lower East Branch, are also in the Penobscot at Mattawamkeag, and will come in at the same time with the Mattawamkeag drive, which will probably pass Winn on Sunday the 12th inst.

Some fifty men went on to the Salmon stream drive this morning.

The steam mill at Danforth, run by Asa Whiting, formerly of Carmel, caught fire on the roof last Wednesday, but the flames were extinguished before any damage was done. He is putting in additional machinery and proposes to do a larger business in manufacturing shingles.

Miss Emma Folsom, of Passadumkeag, and Miss Sarah Bosworth, of Litchfield, have opened a millinery store in Danforth.

D. D. Thompson has bought Charles Merrill's stable and proposes to make it over into a carriage and blacksmith shop.

During the past ten days several visitors enroute for Duck Pond have arrived at the Katahdin House.

James L. Boyd is now running his shingle mill at the mouth of the Oresuntic stream.

F. Shaw & Bros. are now at work preparatory to erecting a new mill on the site of the old mill recently destroyed by fire.

PERISTALTIC LOZENGES.

The effects of COSTIVENESS

When long continued are pains in the head, dizziness, nausea or sickness at the stomach, general uneasiness in the abdominal region, congestion of the liver, and hence an impeded circulation of the blood, colic, and especially the

PILES.

The grand proximate cause of Dyspepsia is debility of the stomach. The torpidity of the liver is apparent from the small quantity of bile discharged from that organ, and also by a dull pain on the right side. Under whichever form

DYSPEPSIA.

Appears there is always languor or debility, exertion fatigues, the pulse is weak, the sleep disturbed, the extremities cold, the tongue for the most part furred or covered with a creamy mucous in the morning. No person with a constipated or irregular state of the bowels can have sound health.

It is evident, that some gentle laxative, slightly stimulant to the mucous membrane of the intestines, joined with a tonic that increases the secretions of the liver and gradually strengthening the stomach, must be a reasonable combination and reach the case. That this combination will do; for proof of which we are happy to be able to refer those heretofore disappointed, to the most reliable physicians, who have long used this remedy in their practice; and also to every apothecary by whom the Peristaltic Lozenges are sold.

These Lozenges will repair the mischief caused by the excessive use of those "Patent Pills," with which the country has for years been flooded.

They are so agreeable to the taste, and convenient in form, that children eat them readily after rejecting the usual nauseous remedies. In those symptoms supposed to indicate the presence of Worms, they are a proper remedy.

Price 30 and 60 cents. For sale by druggists, or by mail on receipt of price in P. O. stamp or money.

Congress has just passed a law giving a Pension of $8 per month to all Soldiers of the War of 1812, who served 14 days or were in battle—and the same pension to the widows of all such soldiers.

This entitles all to a pension who have received Land Warrants.

All desiring the pension can obtain it, by applying to me in person at my office, or by letter.

I have all the old Rolls, on which is borne the names of all soldiers of the War of 1812, with the place and length of service and date of discharge, and all facts, and I can give full and exact information in every case.

Also a Record of most of the Land Warrants granted to these soldiers.

No person, east of Portland, has these rolls, except myself and A. J. Chapman, Esq., of Bangor, —he has equal facilities for obtaining these pensions. He was formerly a clerk in my office.

C. P. BROWN,

BANGOR.

N. B.—All who desire their pensions early must apply early.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8 P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administratrix de bonis non, of the estate of Timothy R. Harley, late of Brewer, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration by the sum of six hundred dollars or more,

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her power to sell by license at public or private sale, and convey the whole of the following described real estate of the deceased, (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein) as the residue would be greatly depreciated by a sale of any portion, viz: The late homestead of said deceased, situate on Brimmer street in said Brewer, and the same now occupied by the undersigned, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.

Said real estate is the same described in a Deed recorded in the Registry of Deeds of said County.
